

Indiana's Telephone Privacy Law works well, and I don't think that the FCC should do anything nationally that would lessen the law we currently have. Indiana's current law has virtually stopped unwanted sales calls to my home.